

BuilderMT's Builder Portal Surges to More Than 5,000 Monthly Users

5,000 Monthly BuilderMT Users Are Accessing the Cloud-based Portal to View KPIs, Schedules, Job Status, Bid Management and Purchasing Management. It's All Available on Mobile or Desktop Devices.

Lakewood, CO — March 23, 2017 — BuilderMT, the market share leader in workflow management solutions for home builders, announced that adoption rates for its Builder Portal have reached record highs. Monthly usage of the Builder Portal by home builders and their trades has topped 5,000 for the first time. These 5,000 users are accessing the Builder Portal on desktop and mobile devices to view KPIs, schedules, job status, bid management tools, and purchasing management.

Using a “role-based” and Cloud-based solution set – deployed over the BMTCloud – Builder Portal users can access BuilderMT management technology through any browser and any mobile device. (BMTCloud is a multi-tenant SaaS platform, which uses SQL Server database and supports both off-premise and self-hosted deployments.)

“With this surge in Portal usage, we have never seen such rapid technology adoption for any software solution, in or out of our family of solutions,” said Ward Griffith, BuilderMT’s General Manager. “Using Portal, authorized users can access BuilderMT WMS Purchasing and Scheduling, while allowing authorized users to manage various aspects of their daily tasks by job, lot, community, or company.”

Builder Portal also allows field review of construction documents, while offering seamless collaboration with office staff and affiliated trades, via a message center, without having to rely on Microsoft Outlook. Using BuilderMT’s new collaboration tool, Builder Portal allows trades, vendors, and supers to use a single, cohesive tool to send individual (or group) messages and documents to any other associated parties across any number of projects.

“The Portal’s ‘central dashboard’ is a remarkably efficient way for centralizing and running operations,” said BuilderMT’s President Tom Gebes. “It’s no wonder we are seeing such a strong uptake of our award-winning solution.”
